

Rubber Projectile Plt75 6101

Restech

The RESTECH PLT75 rubber projectile is a replacement and support item for survival kits and accessories, designed to keep the set ready when it matters most. Compact and easy to handle, it is a practical solution for lifesaving operations on board.

COD EUROSUL: 000424

IMPA: ---

Part Number: 6101

Approvals: ---

Specifications

Overview

Rubber projectile for use in survival kits and accessories, identified by model PLT75 and part number 6101. It is a compact component intended for replacement and support of lifesaving equipment.

Application and use

Suitable for survival sets on board, helping keep the kit operational and ready for use. Its shape and weight make it easy to store with the other accessories in the set.

Construction characteristics

Sub-item	RUBBER
----------	--------

Technical specifications

Model	PLT75
Part number	6101

Marking and traceability

SKU	000424
Brand	RESTECH

Replacement item for marine use, with simple storage and straightforward handling. Keep it protected from excessive heat, moisture, and deformation to preserve its integrity until use.